Between Tides

July 11 — Aug 22, 2026

540 Ramona Street
Palo Alto, CA

Palo Alto, CA — Pamela Walsh Gallery is pleased to present Between Tides, a group exhibition of artists whose practices explore movement, change, and transition. Echoing the ebb and flow of the tides, the exhibition reflects on the rhythms of transformation that shape both the natural world and human experience. These works explore the spaces between certainty and uncertainty, stillness and movement, where change becomes a source of possibility and renewal. The exhibition opens July 18, 2026, with an opening reception from 5 to 7 pm and will remain on view through August 22, 2026.

Through painting, sculpture, and mixed media, the artists offer distinct perspectives on landscape, abstraction, memory, and place. Some draw inspiration from the natural world, while others explore the relationships between perception, experience, and form. Between Tides reveals unexpected connections among diverse artistic voices, reflecting a shared interest in change, resilience, and the possibilities found in moments of transition.

The exhibition features work by Marshall Crossman, Danielle Eubank, Andrew Faulkner, KL Folgner, Yoko Kubrick, Don Scott Macdonald, Carolyn Meyer, Fernando Reyes, Gary Ruddell, Larry Horowitz, and Diane Warner-Wang.

Between Tides will be on view at Pamela Walsh Gallery until August 22nd at 540 Ramona Street, Palo Alto, CA. Gallery hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 11 am to 6 pm. For more information, visit www.pamelawalshgallery.com or contact info@pamelawalshgallery.com.
